

Notre Dame High School Scheme of Delegation

Introduction

An academy trust's board of governors is accountable in law for all decisions about its academy including Teaching School. However, this does not mean that the full board is required to make all the decisions itself. Many decisions can be delegated to the Headteacher (the senior executive leader in a single academy trust), trust board committees and individual governors. It is vital that the decision to delegate a function is made by the full board of governors and is recorded. Without such formal delegation, the individual or committee has no power to act.

What functions the board decides to delegate will vary depending. Once determined the Scheme of Delegation must be published on the trust website.

The purpose of scheme of delegation

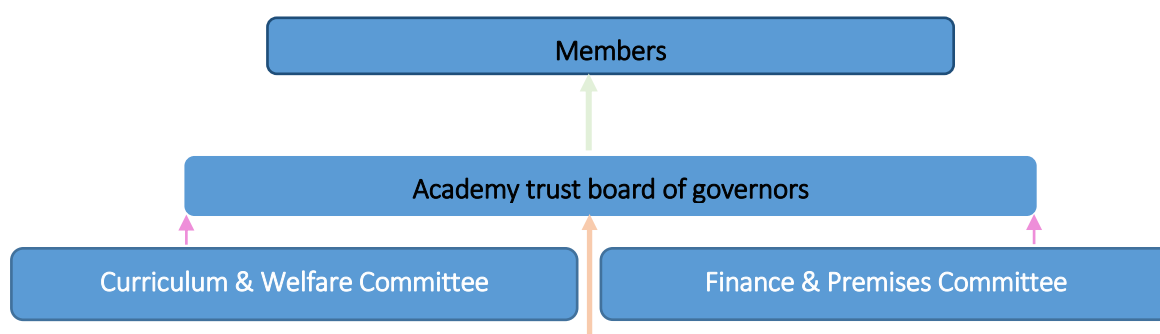

A scheme of delegation is the key document defining which functions have been delegated and to whom. It should be a simple yet systematic way of ensuring members, governors, committees and individuals are clear about who has responsibility for making which decisions in the trust, including the Teaching School. This overarching Scheme of Delegation covering all decision making in the trust should not be confused with the written scheme of delegation of financial powers referred to in the Academies Financial Handbook.

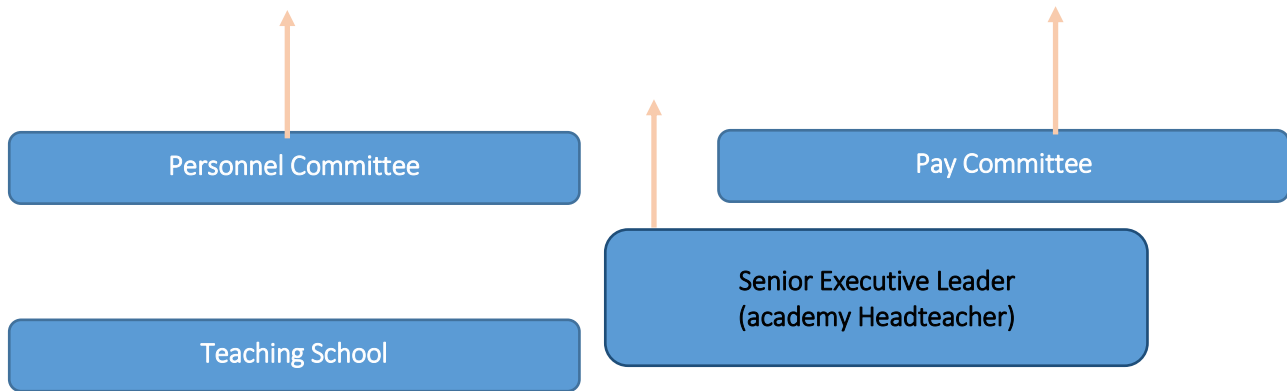

Deciding what to retain at governor level and what to delegate will vary from trust to trust. The detail will not be set out in the articles of association, the academy trusts governing document. This is why it is critical that the academy trust agree a Scheme of Delegation that explicitly establishes who makes which decisions, and ensures this is clear to all. A detailed yet clear Scheme of Delegation can help prevent confusion from arising before any misunderstanding arises which has the propensity to lead to a loss of trust and damaged working relationships.

Review and adapt

The Scheme of Delegation should be reviewed annually, with revisions made as the context changes, if necessary each year. This is not a failure, but recognition of the need to be responsive to changing circumstances and to adapt accordingly. It is, however, important to ensure that all involved in governance are made aware of any changes and what these mean in practice.

Governance structure and lines of accountability

The academy trust board of governors delegate responsibility for the day to day running of the academy, including Teaching School, to the Headteacher. The governor board will hold the Headteacher to account for the performance of the academy. The Headteacher in turn holds other members of the senior leadership team to account by line managing them. While the board cannot ever delegate its accountability, it can delegate some of the detailed scrutiny, oversight and decision making.

The Headteacher will report to the board on the performance of the academy, although this will be supplemented by the monitoring of trust board committees and individual governors with any delegated responsibilities.

The Headteacher is performance managed by the trust board.

Roles and responsibilities

The role of the members

The members of the trust have a different status to governors. Originally they will have been the signatories to the memorandum of association and will have agreed the trust's first articles of association (a document which outlines the governance structure and how the trust will operate). The articles of association will also describe how members are recruited and replaced, and how many of the governors the members can appoint to the trust board. The members appoint governors to ensure that the trust's charitable object is carried out and so must be able to remove governors if they fail to fulfil this responsibility. Accordingly, the trust board submits an annual report on the performance of the trust to the members. Members are also responsible for approving any amendments made to the trust's articles of association.

While members are permitted to be appointed as governors, in order to retain a degree of separation of powers between the members and the trust board, and in line with DfE expectations, not all members should be governors. The DfE has amended the model articles to state that members are not permitted to be employees of the academy trust.

The role of the governors

The academy trust is a charitable company and so governors are both charity governors (within the terms of section 177(1) of the Charities Act 2011) and company directors. Because governors are bound by both charity and company law, the terms 'trustees' and 'directors' are often used interchangeably.

The governors are responsible for the general control and management of the administration of the trust, and in accordance with the provisions set out in the memorandum and articles of association and its funding agreement, it is legally responsible and accountable for all statutory functions, for the performance of the trust, and must approve a written scheme of delegation of financial powers that maintains robust internal control arrangements. In addition it must carry out the three core governance functions:

1. Ensure clarity of vision, ethos and strategic direction
2. Hold the Headteacher to account for the educational performance of the trust and their pupils, and the performance management of staff
3. Oversee the financial performance of the trust and make sure its money is well spent

The board of governors has the right to review and adapt its governance structure at any time which includes removing delegation.

The role of trust board committees and Teaching School

The governors may establish committees to carry out some of its governance functions which may include making decisions, although any decisions made will be deemed decisions of the trust board. The membership (there must be at least three governors) and responsibilities of board committees are set out in the committee's terms of reference. It is usual for the trust board to appoint board committee chairs and committee members according to their skills.

The Academies Financial Handbook 2017 makes it clear that the board of governors 'should have a finance committee to which the board delegates financial scrutiny and oversight'.

The role of the senior executive leader (the academy Headteacher in a single academy trust)

The Headteacher has the delegated responsibility for the operation of the trust.

The Headteacher is the accounting officer so has overall responsibility for the operation of the academy trust's financial responsibilities and must ensure that the organisation is run with financial effectiveness and stability; avoiding waste and securing value for money.

The Headteacher leads the senior management team (SMT) of the academy trust. The Headteacher will delegate management functions to the SMT and is accountable to the trust board for the performance of the SMT.
